Our mission

ARTwb believes that art helps to create mutual respect among diverse cultures and values.

We know that artists are often the first victims of human rights violations and abuses.

Our mission is to:

- support and assist individuals, networks and organizations dedicated to preserving and promoting artists' rights
- promote the work of artists who have suffered rights abuse or advocate for artists' rights
- provide network support and assistance to these artists
- educate the community about the plight of artists suffering from rights abuse.

Our programs

ARTwb offers artists the support of an exchange network with our members.

We currently have three programs in place:

- producing promotional and networking events: art exhibitions, concerts and readings
- supporting organizations involved in the promotion and protection of human rights
- informing and educating the community and its leaders about the situation of artists in the world.
